IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

It is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, in such Form as they shall think best, provided they do not alter the Form of Government without the Consent of the Majority of the People. The Principles of the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen are hereby affirmed, and it is the duty of the People to support and defend them. The Principles of the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen are hereby affirmed, and it is the duty of the People to support and defend them. The Principles of the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen are hereby affirmed, and it is the duty of the People to support and defend them.
